

Mr. Moulali P., M.Sc(Computers), M.Tech, AP-SET
Assistant Professor

Mr. Moulali P is an experienced Assistant Professor specializing in Computers at our institution. He holds an M.Sc. in Computers from S.V. University and an M.Tech from Nagarjuna University, and he is APSET qualified. Since joining our faculty, Mr. Moulali P has brought several years of expertise in computer science education, preparing students effectively for the dynamic technological landscape.

His extensive experience in academia and industry integration has enriched the learning experience for students, equipping them with practical skills and theoretical knowledge. Mr. Moulali P's proactive approach to curriculum development ensures that students receive education aligned with the latest advancements in computer science.

His dedication to academic excellence and his role as a mentor contribute significantly to our institution's mission of fostering future-ready professionals in the field of Computers.